Greetings,

In this issue of the newsletter you will read about many important contributions to the continued success of the Denver Health Foundation. At our recent Annual Meeting a number of awards were presented to individuals and organizations who have stepped forward to join us in our efforts. Theirs are significant accomplishments because the work of the Foundation relies on partnerships in the community to achieve the ambitious goals we have set for ourselves.

We thank the following awardees for making a tremendous impact on our ability to support Denver Health in its mission:

- Employee of the Year: Dr. Greg Bogdan
- Physician of the Year: Dr. Phil Mehler
- Department of the Year: Behavioral Health Services
- Donor of the Year: Bruce Alexander
- Corporation of the Year: Wells Fargo
- Foundation of the Year: The Denver Metropolitan Affiliate of the Susan G. Komen for the Cure
- Legacy Award: Dr. Sharon Langendoerfer

Please read about each of the awardees on pages 4 and 5. These are partners who have enabled us to penetrate deeply into the community and to extend our reach to donors. They have also made it possible for Denver Health to provide services to patients who, in many cases, have no other resources.

I also want to thank members of our Board of Directors who have provided extraordinary leadership in every aspect of our work. We also want to acknowledge out-going Board Member, Jerry Cowan, for his six years of service on the Board, for his financial support, emotional involvement, and intellectual engagement in all that we do. He will be missed.

Congratulations to all of you!

Warmly,
David McReynolds

Denver Health Foundation's Riverfront Park Fashion

On August 13th Denver's most elegant and fashion forward came together for a spectacular evening to raise funds for Denver Health Foundation. Guests were wowed by the Fall collections of designers William Rast and Ever, hosted by BLUSH, and Chris Benz, hosted by Lawrence Covell.

Set in a stunning location at the base of the Millennium Bridge, guests of Riverfront Park Fashion enjoyed the beautiful weather while being the first to see the latest collections from national and international designers. Over 1,200 of Denver's socialites, philanthropists and community leaders came out in support of women's health programs at Denver Health.

Delicious bites provided by Zengo, Fogo de Chão, Table 6, and Happy Cakes kept the crowd energetic and engaged. Thank you to East West Partners, Wells Fargo, Born To Build Foundation and many, many others for your support of Riverfront Park Fashion and for making a difference in the lives of Denver's citizens.

LEGACY AWARD
Sharon Langendoerfer, MD

LEGACY AWARD

Sharon Langendoerfer, MD, Denver Health Pediatrician and Neonatologist has practiced in the Department of Pediatrics for the past 36 years, caring for some of the hospitals tiniest and most fragile patients. Since its inception in 2003, Open Your Hearts to Newborns in Need has had many champions. This program provides necessities for thousands of low-income babies each year and it has touched many thousands of donors and volunteers. None have been as committed and loyal as Dr. Sharon Langendoerfer. Her intimate experiences with newborns and their families make her a compelling spokesperson for the struggles many of them face at the time of the birth of a new baby. The Foundation has called upon her often to speak at charity baby showers that take place around the city and she has brought many a gathering to tears when she recounts the stories of her patients. We thank her for her unwavering care of Denver Health’s babies and for her faithful support of the Denver Health Foundation’s Newborns in Need program.

Volunteer

Volunteer Spotlight

Patricia Gilman

“Denver Health is such a vital, successful part of the Denver community.” ~ Patricia Gilman

As a former radiation therapy technologist and wife and mother of physicians, it made perfect sense to Patricia Gilman to dedicate her volunteer time to a hospital. With that in mind, she joined Denver Health’s volunteer corps in 2007.

Since then, she has loyally dedicated four hours every Thursday to the Admit/Discharge Unit.

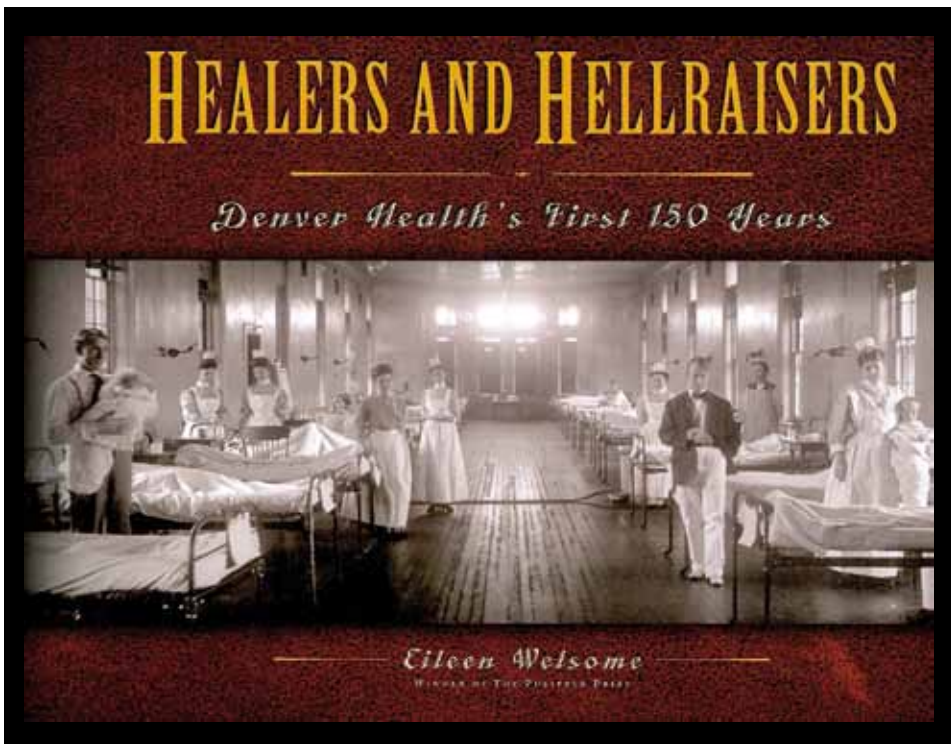

When asked to describe her experiences she said, “I love working with the dedicated staff in the ADU and enjoy the variety of challenges we have each day. I am constantly amazed and humbled by the difficulties so many of our patients face in their daily lives and appreciate the good fortune with which I have been blessed.”

After attending our annual recognition luncheon in 2010, Patricia decided that she wanted to make a greater impact in the lives of our patients. She took on yet another role and became a Reach Out and Read volunteer at the Lowry Clinic. “I’m a lifelong avid reader and as a former teacher know how critical reading is to success in life.”

Before joining us in 2007, Patricia had already dedicated her life to helping and educating others, beginning with her childhood in England and continuing with her work at Yale Medical Center in Connecticut. While at Yale, she helped develop one of the first training programs for radiation therapy technologists in the country. Once she and her husband settled in Denver, Patricia decided to pursue a second degree in history. She then taught for eight years in the public school system.

Patricia’s dedication, positive attitude and impact are immeasurable. We are so honored that she has chosen to volunteer at Denver Health.

“Denver Health is such a vital, successful part of the Denver community,” says Patricia.

Healers and Hellraisers

Written by Pulitzer Prize winning author, Eileen Welsome, Healers and Hellraisers is the story of Denver Health's first 150 years. The book describes the hospital's rough-and-tumble beginnings, its near-death in the 1950s, and its emergence as a model for the nation at the dawn of the 21st Century.

Through epidemics and pandemics, economic recessions and depressions, Denver Health has endured. Today it serves one out of three residents of Denver and is widely considered the country's preeminent leader in healthcare reform. Healers and Hellraisers is a history entwined with the history of Denver itself.

This is a handsome, lavishly illustrated 188 page hard-bound volume that is a must-read for all Denver Health supporters and is now available for purchase on the Foundation's website www.denverhealthfoundation.org for $39.⁹⁹

THE VOICE of the PATIENT

Dear Dr. Gabow,

"I have been suffering with this terrible anorexia as far back as I can remember. At least 40 years. I have been to rehabilitation centers twice before Denver Health Center. I am now 54 years old. Without reservations, Denver Health has been the most successful program I have been through. The staff of nurses' aides, RNs, therapy, and nutritional do an absolutely amazing job. I wish I could name all of them, but I hope they all know who they are.

I truly wish to thank Dr. Mehler, Dr. Gaudiani, and Dr. Mascolo for their team support in bringing me back from an illness that has put such a hold on me. Without their efforts and support of all staff members, I am afraid I wouldn't come this far in recovery as I have. For the first time in many years, I feel clearer about what this terrible disease has done to me. I also feel much more physically healthy in body than I have for a long time. I realize this is truly a lifetime struggle, but with the tools and knowledge Denver Health has given me, I will have a much longer and healthier life now.

Thank you Denver Health for giving me a new outlook on life. Thank you all for saving mine."

~ Kathy, former patient of the ACUTE Center for Eating Disorders

Level One Society's Toast! to Denver's Health: An Evening to In“SPIRE” Unveils New Fundraising Campaign

A Toast! to Denver's Health, co-chaired by Mike Ferruffino, Kasia Iwaniczko MacLeod, and Kathleen McCall-Thompson brought 250 guests together on September 21st at the downtown Spire to support youth struggling with mental illness.

The Level One Society of the Denver Health Foundation also unveiled a new $1.5 million campaign called, “Beyond the Stigma.” This campaign aims to fund the Endowed Fund in Child and Adolescent Behavioral Health, directed specifically towards children and adolescents to support cutting-edge research at Denver Health and raise awareness of behavioral health issues.

Earlier this year the Level One Society Board agreed to embark on the “Beyond the Stigma” campaign after successfully completing a $371,000 fundraising goal to help support mental health programs at Pavilion M, the new Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Unit at Denver Health (see story on opposite page).

Thanks to the Level One Society's efforts at the recent Toast! to Denver's Health, $15,000 was raised to support this endowed fund. A very special thank you to our guest speakers Anne Warhover, President and CEO of the Colorado Health Foundation and Kent Thompson, Artistic Director of the Denver Center Theatre Company, who shared their personal stories about the limited resources available for mental health and the importance of Denver Health in our community. We also thank our in-kind sponsors The Spire, Happy Cakes, Rock Bottom Brewery, Republic Tequila, Secco Italian Bubbles, Row 14, Water 2 Wine, Root Down, and Linger.

If you or someone you know is interested in learning more about the Behavioral Health Services endowment, volunteering on a committee, or making a donation, please contact Karen Kennedy at 303-602-2972 or Karen.Kennedy@dhha.org.

Endowed Fund in Child & Adolescent Behavioral Health

The Behavioral Health Department at Denver Health has a well-earned reputation for excellence, particularly in the area of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry. It provides a wide continuum of services to troubled children and teens. Treatment takes place at Denver Health campus, on both an inpatient and outpatient basis, and at school-based clinics. These young patients are treated for a variety of problems ranging from abuse at home to drug addiction on the streets to bi-polar, depression, and suicidal disorders.

With the closure of all other in-patient psychiatric beds in Denver over the past several years, only Denver Health provides care and management for the inpatient mental health needs of Denver's youth.

The recently opened state-of-the-art, 16-bed inpatient facility, located in what is known as Pavilion "M", will deliver the most effective and advanced therapeutic programs available by incorporating art, music, outdoor recreation, and a 21st century learning classroom.

Now that Denver Health has built the right place for Denver kids to heal, a $1.5 million endowment campaign has been undertaken. When completed, it will provide the Department with an income stream dedicated solely to the purpose of clinical research leading to better, more effective treatments for children and adolescents struggling to regain mental health.

Anyone interested in contributing to this fund may contact Karen Kennedy at 303-602-2972 or Karen.Kennedy@dhha.org.

Grand opening of Pav M

Denver Health hosted the Grand Opening of Pavilion M on October 31st

Pav M, as it's called, houses child and adolescent inpatient/outpatient psychiatric units, enrollment and dialysis centers and an outpatient surgical procedure unit. Speakers included Dr. James Scully, Medical Director & CEO of the American Psychiatric Association, Dr. Patricia Gabow, CEO of Denver Health, and Denver Mayor Michael Hancock.

Donor Spotlight

Lindy Hall and the Serendipity Sewing Circle

Lindy Hall holds a book she donated to Newborns in Need

After major surgery in 2007 with Dr. Fernando Kim, Denver Health's Chief of Urology, Denver native and long-time Boulder resident as well as a Nobel Prize winner, Dr. John Hall wanted to find some ways to continue staying connected with Denver Health and become a volunteer. His wife Lindy, an enthusiastic quilter, began experimenting with fleece blankets for the Newborns in Need program that supplies layette items for the thousands of low-income babies born each year at the hospital.

It seemed that each time they would fill a shopping cart at local fabric stores, conversations would start at the cutting table or check-out lines and soon a group of motivated and creative crafters came together to form the Serendipity Sewing Circle.

Members in Boulder include: John and Lindy Hall (CU professor and retired teacher), Brenda Llewellyn (professional seamstress and designer), and Kathy deHaas (hair stylist). Judy Wilcox, a retired educator from Jeffco school district lives in Westminster and Evergreen neighbors Laura Loman, Cheryl O'Toole and Patti Petit-Danhour are pooling their talents to create new designs and quantities of unusual items. Larry Morris of Northglenn is a special resource and appreciated for his donations of time and materials in cutting and preparing items to be finished.

Over time, a favorite activity for the group has become checking out sales, exhibits, and craft fairs to gather and exchange new ideas. The original output of blankets has expanded to include hats, bibs, burp cloths, booties, toys and books.

In May, members received an award at the Newborns in Need annual tea at the Governor's Mansion, and were honored for their commitment, being named "Special Friends" of the program. This is further reflected by a common feeling in the group on many levels. Sewing is a relaxing and enjoyable way for self-expression and a creative use of spare time. It is possible to see results with every new day's output. As the weather gets colder, knowing that Denver Health's newborns will be going home with an assortment of warm handmade items, is a wonderful way to add extra meaning to the winter season and making of happier holidays.
